The Odd Column

If you could find a nice buffalo steak you will probably have a chance this fall to satisfy that desire. The Dominion Government has announced that another 1,600 head of buffalo in Watnigwair Park, Alberta, is to be slaughtered this fall or early winter. They have too many buffalo at Watnigwair. The slaugher of the plains, which a few years ago were in danger of extinction, thrive under the kindly care of the government. Now, like other lines of agriculture, the buffalo business is suffering from over production. The slaughterer's eye will soon remedy that difficulty, but we hope it don't fall on the heads of the elderly members of the tribe. We like our buffalo steaks nice and tender.

Those slow Britnabers have pulled off another speed stunt. Not content with the new air speed record of 337 miles an hour set up in the Schneider cup race, the British pilots tried again to see how fast their bullet-like planes could really travel. The Schneider cup record was exceeded by 25 m.p.h. in an hour when Flight Lieut. O. H. Stainforth cleared the air at the terrific speed of 402 miles an hour. He traveled the fastest lap in the four lap run at the rate of 412 miles an hour. That's going some.

One business which honest and decent citizens of the United States will be glad to hear is on the wane is the business of racketeering. The Better Business Bureau Chicago reports a falling off in the number of rackets and the number of victims.

Henry Ford is building a huge rubber plantation in Brazil. Huge sums of money are being spent in erecting factories, offices, recreation halls, and homes. Ford estimates that his rubber plantation will be large enough to supply the rubber consumption of the whole world. Probably when that is accomplished he will put eight wheels on his automobiles and double the size of his plantation.

The Jasper-Lake Louise highway will be one of the greatest scenic routes in the mountains. The scenery, we are told, will be of great variety and grandeur, including beautiful lakes, snow-capped mountains, deep forested valleys, craggy peaks, and glaciers. The description of the wonders and beauties to be seen along the route is so wonderful that the superlatives ever used in describing mountain scenery.

The gold standard puzzle is most confusing to the layman. The subject is too deep and too complicated for him to understand. It's a great thing for Wall Street, however. Coming at a time when business in stocks and bonds was at a low ebb, the announcement that England had suspended the gold standard was seized by the New York brokers as an opportunity for fluctuating the value of the English pound on the American market. And every fluctuation means a profit for the broker. He has to make a living somehow. The Canadian dollar, too, has been depressed, but actually it is still worth a dollar in gold.

Minister Sets Forth Cattle Sales Aid Plan

Web Scheme Aims to be of General Marketing Plan

A threefold plan by which farmers in the sections suffering from drought might be aided in marketing their cattle by means of a reduction of 50 per cent in the freight rate to the nearest shipping point, was announced by the Hon. T. L. Kennedy, minister of agriculture for Ontario, was quoted as saying that there was a big demand for Alberta cattle, and that Ontario was prepared to handle at least another 100,000 head of cattle a year.

A number of witnesses were called who testified as to the disagreeable temper and vengeful nature of Liero.

Miss Charlotte Spiter, of Crowfoot, spent the week-end at home.

Paul Shuster, who spent the summer here, will leave soon for his home in Pennsylvania. A party was held in his honor at the Carlisle home.

The first phase of the plan, he said was to help farmers and ranchers to dried out districts to send their cattle to feeder farms at the rate of 50 per cent of the freight cost being assumed by the Federal Government.

Second, a similar percentage freight cost would be assumed by the government in the shipping of the finished cattle from the feeder farms to the slaughter.

Thirdly, the Ontario Government was conducting negotiations where it would secure from western Canada a shipment of 300,000 head of cattle for distribution among junior farm clubs in Ontario. These animals would be handled through the Best Products' Council.

Preliminary Hearing Adjourned a Week

Arson Charge Will be Heard in Banaroo on Tuesday, Oct. 6.

The preliminary hearing of Chas. Bennett, of Arrowwood, has been adjourned for one week to the request of Sgt. J. N. Cawsey, who is prosecuting the case. The hearing will take place in Banaroo on Tuesday, Oct. 6.

Bennett is alleged to have set fire to the home of T. A. Kelly, of Arrowwood, on Sept. 18, doing damage amounting to about $350.

The hearing will take place at 10 o'clock p.m.

Harvest Work Favored by Fine Weather

Cutting Will be Almost Finished by Early Next Week—Wheat Still Grains High

Favored by ideal weather conditions, work in the Banaroo district has been making rapid progress during the past week with the harvesting of the 1931 wheat crop.

Cutting will be nearly finished by early next week. Messrs. Howe and Burgeson are reported to have nearly two weeks cutting still to do.

Many farmers finished their cutting this week.

The rains caused a slight delay in the cutting of some of the wheat, but the grade is still holding up well. Most of it is grading No. 1, with a little No. 2. The wheat is now getting hard.

A splendid sample of wheat is being delivered to the Alberta Pacific elevator in Banaroo by John Burrows, who has wheat grades No. 1 and weighs 65 pounds to the bushel.

George Warren, A. P. elevator man, says it is his fine a sample of wheat as he has ever seen in Banaroo.

MURDER AND SUICIDE VERDICT

Coroner's Jury Finds Woman and Child Murdered in Triple Tragedy at Rainier

Murder and suicide was the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury sitting on the case of the triple tragedy of Mrs. Elizabeth Irwin, her child Kathleen, and Frederick Liero, who died in the Lervo home at Rainier only Monday morning, Sept. 21.

Dr. C. E. Anderson, of Brooks, was coroner, and Dr. A. G. Scott, of Banaroo, performed the post mortem examination.

The inquest was held at Rainier on Monday, Sept. 28.

A gunshot wound in the skull of Mrs. Irwin's body indicated that she had been killed by a bullet. A blood stained bayonet found in the spring of the bed, and the fact that the child was strongly indicative that either one or both were stabbed by the weapon.

The child of the child was shattered, indicating death was caused by gunshot wounds or by violent blows.

The skull of Liero was also shattered, although pellets found imbedded in it.

In returning their verdict the coroner's jury found that the woman and child had met death at the hands of Frederick Liero, and that Liero had taken his own life.

A number of witnesses were called who testified as to the disagreeable temper and vengeful nature of Liero.

Miss Charlotte Spiter, of Crowfoot, spent the week-end at home.

Paul Shuster, who spent the summer here, will leave soon for his home in Pennsylvania. A party was held in his honor at the Carlisle home.

On With the Dance
Caller (inquiring for son of the house)—"Whar's young Angus, Mr. McFey?"
Mr. McFey—"He's down in the shed sharpening the gramophone needles. We're giving a war party the night."

Read With Feeling
Janet—"Jack says he can read you like a book."
Oliver—"Yes, and darn him, he wants to use the Braille system."
Midge—"I hope everyone with Marjorie—"Then you'd better let your skirt about six inches."

THE PAGAN
By Richard Church
Once on a burning August day
Along the plain of France
I saw beside the poplars way
A prayer man dance.

She had a haughty in her hand,
Her eyes were wild with wine;
And could her shoulders have
And danced
I saw a grass-snake twine.

Two often now, eyes closed in prayer
Among my Christian kind,
I watch that serpent-goddess flare
On the greenward of my mind.

THE ETERNAL LAW
I think the wind-flowers are in bloom,
Down in a deep ravine,
And violet shyly hides their heads
Beneath their clustered green.
While in the over-hanging trees,
Bird lovers work and sing.
The place is filled and thrilled with life,
Awakened by the spring.

It does not seem so long ago
That in that same ravine
There were no flowers or singing birds,
But just the golden shen of
Of sunlight, through an autumn haze.

And drifting autumn leaves—
The mystic address of the spell
That dying summer weaves.
A summer that I knew and loved
Has passed, and, in its stead,
My heart is torn by autumn's chill.

And filled with winter's dread;
Yet, since I know that deep ravine
Is keeping true with spring,
I'm sure that God's eternal law
Works out in everything.

FIRE PREVENTION
October 1st to 10th is fire prevention week.

We have weeks for almost every conceivable thing from apricots to sauerkraut. Some get little attention, others are heralded by a lot of bathing, and a few are deserving of the attention and support of everybody.

Fire prevention week is one that everyone should observe by taking every precaution for the prevention of fire.

store pipes should be cleaned and replaced if found rusted out, oily rags should be kept in a metal container, paper and other rubbish about the yard should be gathered in a pile and burned; smokers should cultivate the habit of not throwing away matches and cigarette butts until they are completely extinguished.

Fire causes a tremendous loss in Canada every year. Much of this loss can be prevented by exercising ordinary precautions against fire.

TRIOLE MARKERS
The Doukhobors are at it again in southern British Columbia. They are causing anxiety among the other residents who have asked the legislature to deport the Doukhobors.

Not a bad idea. And while they are about it, perhaps it would be just as well to deport the whole tribe of rude parading, school burning fanatics.

The Doukhobors have caused trouble ever since they came to Canada. They set up foreign settlements here and live like foreigners. They wish to enjoy all the privileges of Canadians with accepting any of the responsibilities.

They defy our laws, refuse to have their children educated, and cause frequent disturbances.

The Doukhobors are a menace to the peace and prosperity of the country, and Canada would be better off without them.

Patron—"That barber down the street has cut his prices down to 40 cents for a haircut."

Barber (after a withering silence).—"Yeah! Well, a good barber cuts hair and a poor one cuts prices."

Have you heard the one about the Scotchman who rented a house close to a church because he was fond of rice pudding.

Pills in the Gas Tank

The Automotive Daily News of New York discusses the progress that is said to have been made in the matter of synthetic fuel. With the help of the American Petroleum Institute, the University of Texas is reported to be conducting experiments to determine the actual substance that goes into the structure of petroleum. Once this is accomplished the chemist has a very good chance of producing these substances and manufacturing them in the laboratory. It is evident, however, that the chemists still have plenty of work ahead of them as there are probably 500 individual substances in kerosene bases. The News concludes: "However, it is plain to see that the possibility is there. The beginning of the automotive industry as an important factor in transportation goes back only about twenty-five years. Those who live a similar period from today undoubtedly will see developments more startling than those that have come to date. Perhaps in 1956 it will be a commonplace to hear the head of the household in New York say to his chauffeur: 'James, kindly drop two fuel pills in the gas tank. I am dining in San Francisco tonight and I don't want to stop on the way for a refill.'"

B. C. Highways Lengthen

Opportunities for scenic highways are not being overlooked in British Columbia. While utility roads are being built at a rapid rate in that province, the unlimited chances for routes that will attract tourists are getting their share of the road builders' attention. The Prince Rupert Evening Empire reports: "The connection of a motor highway to connect Prince Rupert with the road system of the interior country is in full swing. About sixteen miles of roadway have already been built and work is to continue right through the winter. There is already considerable traffic and as the highway lengthens the number of cars using it is certain to increase. Once the job is finished, there will be a wonderful scenic drive, which will attract tourists from all over the continent. It will be something new, and that is what they are looking for."

More Buyers Paying Cash

Addressing a convention of salesmen in Hamilton, Ontario, W. C.

Herring, general sales manager of General Motors of Canada, recently gave expression to some optimistic statements about improved business conditions in certain car lines in Canada. Referring to a very definite increase in sales, he said that 25 per cent more buyers had paid cash for their cars this year than during the previous year.

Uniform Highway Rules

Uniform regulations for the control of bus and truck traffic on inter provincial highways was proposed by the Saskatchewan government at Lacrosse-in-Quebec. Uniform regulations in each province to govern the whole matter of passenger and freight traffic over provincial highways were recommended. Saskatchewan, according to the Minister of Highways, has taken the lead in the western provinces in the matter of regulating this traffic. The introduction of high-grade highways increase the traffic to such an extent that regulations were brought into a year ago.

Africa Best Customer

South Africa was Canada's best customer for automobiles during the month of July, according to a report issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics. In both freight and passenger cars she purchased more than any other country, although British India came a close second. South Africa's purchases totalled $117,160.

Better Than The Thumb

Motorists have found it a bit wearisome to have their attention distracted by the throng of hitchhikers this year, so much so that they are really entertained by the latest methods of the mileage-beggar. The new model hitch-hiker is now said to be carrying his own "prop" — a gasoline can and a funnel. With this significant scenery he really fails to get a ride and his duds and grub are stored away inside.

Great Britain's fields produce only enough grain to feed her population for a single month.

RECIPES

Inexpensive Chocolate Cake

Three tablespoons butter, one cup sugar, one-half cup cocoa, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon vanilla. Melt butter; mix sugar and cocoa together and add to the butter. Stir flour once before measuring, then mix flour, soda and salt together. Add alternately to the batter. Bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

For Watery Jam

Jam, jamming frequently falls because the jam turns out to be loose and syrupy. When this happens usually as a result of using over-ripe fruit, or of not cooking it sufficiently before adding the sugar — try one of the following methods to get a firm consistency: Boil up the jam again, using further one pound of sugar to each four pounds of fruit, or add a few ounces of gelatine, strained into the jam, or boil again, adding a fruit pectin which causes the jam to jelly properly.

On The Turn

When cream is only slightly sour, it can be served with puddings, etc. If it is first put into a bag with the juice of a lemon and a good tablespoon of sugar and whipped until quite stiff. This increases the quantity and gets rid of the sour flavor.

"Have a cigar old man."

"Don't mind if I do. But what's the occasion."

"Oh, I've got an addition to my family."

"You don't say. Congratulations," said the recipient enthusiastically.

He put a match to the cigar. After a few puffs he took the cigar out of his mouth, looked at it and observed, "About the tenth child, I should say."

Televisions

You would say she had X-ray eyes . . . was clairvoyant . . . a fortune teller—except that thousands of shoppers see as clearly as she into the contents of perfectly opaque jars, and foretell with the same swift accuracy the future of the things they buy.

Advertising is her television. Advertising gives her complete advance information. Quietly, in a congenial corner of her home, she thinks and determines before she buys. Finding out about the newest foundation cream, the crispest breakfast food, the most glamorous brand of hose. Comparing these with others. Making selections serenely. Going forth to buy . . .

She has only this left to do. No worrying or hesitating when confronted by two jars, each equally inviting. No doubts about their makers. Advertisements have told her the invisible truths—given her clear true images of the contents of those jars, and the results of their use.

Rare is the woman who can boast who has never bought anything she wishes she hadn't bought. But with the aid of advertisements, that sort of buying is almost entirely done away with. A careful reading of advertisements keeps shopping-temper aweet.

THE PICTURES

"Whoopie," showing at the Ophium Theatre Thursday, Friday, and Saturday this week, has all the burst of splendor that would be anticipated from the area, first Daniel Goldwyn and Florence Ziegfeld were working together to produce a musical comedy spectacle on the talking color screen. All the lavishness implied in those two names appears in the gorgeous scenes, the beautiful girls, the "rib-splitting" comedy from Eddie Cantor and his numerous assistants, the fast pace and splendid photography which make "Whoopie" what it is.

The plot of the picture is an adaptation of Owen Davis' grand farce "The Nervous Wreck," with its story of the imaginary invalid forced to be a lie-man in order to get the heroine out of trouble and married to the right man. Eddie Cantor's portrayal of Henry Williams, the invalid, is a classic of comedy from one of the stage's greatest. Combined with the beauty of huge ensembles, of hand-picked girls, fast, snappy directing by Ted D. Post, and breath-taking photography, the whole picture is the talking screen in its most potent form.

"The story," of Paul Gregory, Ziegfeld's $50,000 tenor, and Chief Canolonia, the Indian baritone, form another notable feature of the screen "Whoopie."

"Drama of Jeopardy" is booked for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, October 5, 6, and 7. Warner Oland stars in this splendid all talking screen entertainment. A superlative drama full of thrills, packed with fear and suspense. A story of the mind of a thousand mysteries. The spookiest picture ever produced.

Barren Island Becomes Garden

Cape Town, South Africa—Cannon Island, South Africa's largest island, situated hundreds of miles inland in the middle of the Orange River, has been transformed from a desert territory, the least fertile, sterile and reptile, into a fertile garden.

Cannon Island is 11 miles long and three miles wide. Its history dates almost entirely to the years since 1864. The government had turned down all applications for settlement, and the only use to which the island was put was for grazing goats, a concession which was taken advantage of by half-castes.

Then 52 determined men—English and Dutch—decided to become squatters and see what course the law would take. Their work of constructing a canal had not advanced far when a member of the police appeared and ordered the squatters to move from the island. On the first occasion the 52 men obeyed the orders and left, but when the policeman's back was turned they returned to finish their day's work.

With so many able hands assisting in the digging of the canal, progress was swift, and when the policeman paid his second official visit the squatters were more determined than ever to see their scheme completed. So the policeman was firmly removed from his horse and given a spade.

Much progress had been made when the next visit of the law was made to the island. This time it was the magistrate. Despite his warning however, they persisted in remaining.

Then came the visit of Piet Grobler, the minister of lands, himself. His intention was to insist on the island's being vacated, but so impressed was he with the changes that had been wrought—with the scores of prosperous little farms, and smiling lands and the effective, if primitive system of irrigation, that he decided to allow the settlers to remain. And now, encouraged by the authorities, the squatters began to invest in timber and iron from the mainland, and with their own labor built the largest pont on the Orange River.
